Contract Recruiting Develops out of Clovis's Outsourced Division

Bethesda, MD – Clovis would like to recognize the growing Contract Recruiting division- the company has had an existing infrastructure in place since last May.

Since inception in 2000, co-founding and managing partners, Greg Diamond and Rick Levine have strived to incorporate their core values into best serving their clients. “It was time to take the next step in following industry trends and offering an extension of our recruiting advantages to our clients on an in-house availability. Due to customer demand we have continued to grow this Outsourced Division,” declares Rick Levine.

Alan Strauss was brought on board to Clovis last year to lead the Contract Recruiting efforts and currently works as their Outsourced Recruiting Division Manager. “I think our efforts will best be utilized for those companies that have an existing process in place and methodologies that they would like to honor, but enhance” says Alan, “our customers require these options and have called on Clovis to make it happen.”

Over the past few years, we have seen more and more businesses look for this very viable outsourcing approach to assist their internal efforts in additional recruiting needs. Clovis has created several different approaches to fill a variety of scenarios with a focus on the needs of small to mid-sized companies in Information Technology, Finance and Healthcare. They have customized this division due to cost and demand – they realize flexibility is key and have taken the initiative to devise outsourced solutions for a multitude of circumstances.

Clovis is a different type of Sales & Management, IT, and Accounting & Finance, and Outsourced recruiting and staffing firm. Clients and candidates benefit from their highly-personal, consultative and selective approach to recruiting. The win-win approach helps both candidates and clients operate more efficiently and profitably.
